Supporting Aspiring and Serving Women Leaders in Education, at All Levels: How Can You Contribute and How Can You Benefit?

About WLiE YH

WLiEYH is a DfE funded regional network based in Yorkshire and The Humber aimed at supporting women at all stages of their career progression in Education. The aim is to provide support, professional development and opportunities to connect with likeminded women leaders. For more information about the Women Leading in Education Network Yorkshire Humber, career inspiration and details of local groups and events, visit their website at www.womenleadingineducationyh.co.uk

Keynote Speaker – Dr Jill Berry

Jill is the former Head of Dame Alice Harpur School in Bedford. Since leaving headship in 2010, she has worked as an Associate for the National College for Teaching and Leadership, carried out a range of educational consultancy work and completed a part-time Doctorate in Education, researching the transition from deputy headship to headship. Jill's book, 'Making the Leap: Moving from Deputy to Head', was published by Crown House in January 2017.
